

SURFACE GUARD INC.
Film Coating and Converting

Our top priority.

Quality

What is the number one consideration when choosing your surface protection needs—quality. That's the bottom line and Surface Guards' greatest strength. Incoming raw materials and outgoing surface protection films all must meet the same stringent quality standards. From our lab to production, sending the highest quality product is the top priority, because our quality reflects on your quality.

How can we help you?

Flexibility

How can we complete your custom order in less than the normal lead time? Having multiple coating and converting lines allows us the flexibility to coordinate production runs. This flexibility enables us to shorten our lead times. We can provide you with your order when you need it. Let us accommodate your surface protection needs.

Do you value your time?

Responsiveness

Our response time and service are unsurpassed. We value your time as well as your business. That's why you will receive the respect and attention that you deserve. You're important to us. Think about it. Don't you deserve to have your inquiries and quotes responded to quickly and professionally? We think so. Our people have the authority and knowledge to give you the right answers promptly. Knowing our customers and their surface protection needs and answering their calls with a friendly "Hello" instead of voice mail are just two examples of what makes our service different from the competition.

Our promise to you.

Dependability

The Surface Guard Advantage—a management team with more than 50 years of industry experience, the latest technology and equipment, and outstanding service and support to our customers. Quality, flexibility, responsiveness, and dependability are more than just words at Surface Guard Inc.—they are the foundation of our promise to you.
